Last Tribute Paid to Capt. John G. Smyth

Fairmont, W. Va., Sept. 25 (Special to Eagle)—Never in the life of Fairmont was such noble tribute paid one of its citizens than was accorded the late John Gordon Smyth here today.

Great numbers of friends, including business associates, lodge brothers, relatives and companions, representing all walks of life, turned out for the funeral of Capt. John Gordon Smyth, who met such a shocking death in the mines in Kentucky last Thursday. Mr. Smyth, who was general manager of the Elkhorn Division of The Consolidation Coal Co., with headquarters at Jenkins, Ky., was extensively known throughout the coal regions of this state, in the Kentucky fields and in the eastern territories and was universally liked, as evidenced by the great tribute shown at his death and burial.

Masses of flowers surrounded his bier; probably never in the history of the city has there been a larger and more gorgeous collection at any funeral. They came from local friends and organizations; from distant points; from his home town of Jenkins and from every source where he was generally loved and respected. Genuine sorrow prevailed over the loss of this good citizen and on every hand were heard expressions of grief over his untimely ending.

At the first Presbyterian church where he had worshipped for a number of years during his residence here, was a trustee and leader in the various activities of the church, the services were held, with his pastor, Dr. H. G. Stoetzer, officiating. He was assisted by Dr. J. C. Broomfield, pastor of the Methodist Protestant Temple. The tributes were of the most fitting kind.

Fairmont Lodge A. F. & A. Masons had charge of the services and it was out in a large body, with an escort from the Crusade Commandery No. 6, Knights Templar in the funeral procession. The Masonic ritual was conducted at the grave.

Active Pall Bearers were from the Jenkins Lodge A. F. & A. Masons, including J. M. Kinzer, Adam Gross, Ed Hornsbarger, W. T. S. Hand, George W. Hay, H. R. Laughlin, S. E. Looney, L. B. Abbott and G. C. Christopher.

Honorary pall bearers were F. K. Day, Coalwood, W. Va.; G. M. Gillette, Frostburg, Md.; C. H. Tarleton, Fairmont, W. H. Kramer, Somerset Pa.; E. R. Price, Van Lear, Ky.; F. R. Lyon, Fairmont; J. C. Gaskill, Fairmont; L. A. Riggs, Fairmont; F. C. Davis, Fairmont; W. M. Wilshire, New York, and George T. Watson, Fairmont.

Accompanying Mrs. Smyth here from Jenkins Sunday were Mrs. Francis E. Nichols, her sister; Miss Phyllis Lott, her cousin; Harold M. Smyth, of Pottsville, Pa., brother of the deceased; Brooks Fleming, Jr., the latter of Fairmont, who had gone to Jenkins on receipt of the message of Mr. Smyth's death; Miss Ethel Prickett, Miss Lucy Miller and Miss Ida Wade, of Jenkins.

Our Emery

"Good Roads for God's Country," was the theme for a brilliant address by our Emory L. Frazier on the Ky-Va road movement at its meeting in Winchester. "Stop and light—get right off and come in when you get up into God's country, Old Letcher," was one among his eloquent screams. "Seventy per cent of our part of the Ky-Va Road is already built; we have only to urge you to push your part and we will meet you at the Perry county line and extend to you the hilarious hand of welcome," were his closing words. At many times during his address he could scarcely proceed on account of the thundering applause.

A Royal Time

Saturday night was the regular meeting of Whitesburg Chapter R.A.M. As usual the crowd of local members was large but the attendance was increased by some sixteen Hazard and Perry county gentlemen who came up to take the R. A. degrees. This work is said to be about the most impressive put on by the Masons and was well executed by the degree team on this occasion. The visitors were given a supper at the Hotel Daniel Boone and this was highly enjoyed. Plates were uncovered for forty-seven. Judge R. B. Roberts and others made short talks. Only a week before a class of twenty-two was taken into the Chapter. We are told the Masonic Lodge here is in a most flourishing condition.

Blackey

Mr. and Mrs. Vinton Caudill, of Glowmar, were here.

Mrs. Gladys Bridges arrived to assume her duties as teacher in Stuart Robinson School.

Miss Cecil Bowman, formerly a teacher here, arrived from Alabama on a visit.

Miss Dora Jett has been ill but is now better.

Miss Zula Caudill has returned from Fleming and is teaching in Stuart Robinson College.

Farmer Cornett was up from Cornettsville.

W. M. Rogers returned from Torrent and reports that Dave Adams died there of typhoid.

Mrs. Pat Piersall is visiting at Morehead.

Herman Whitaker returned from a visit to Whitesburg.

Goebel Stamp was in Whitesburg Sunday. RZ

It is Ky-Va Road

"Thru a slip of the pen some writers are designating the Ky-Va Road as the 'Ky-Va Highway.' The former is correct and is the official name of the routing from Lexington to Pound Gap," said Col. James Maret, the Ky-Va scout.—Lexington Leader.

Mrs. J. D. W. Collins has been quite indisposed but is now able to be around.

Jim Frazier has set the pattern for all Whitesburg citizens by having the Power Company trim up the beautiful trees in front of his home on Main street. Let others follow his example.

KENTUCKY

The following beautiful poem, a new one on our State, comes to us from Col Samuel M. Wilson, of Lexington:

I
Earth weaves her brightest garlands for your crown,
And strews your path with flowers and waving grain,
And when above your head the heavens frown
'Tis but the harbinger of blessed rain;
A mighty spirit moves each lifeless clod,
And wondrous life is born in field and wood;
No doubt 'twas in Kentucky here that God
Looked on his work and saw that it was good.

II
These children of your uplands that we see
Are like Cornelia's famous sons of old,
The jewels of your crown, and proudly we
Acclaim your gifts as blessings manifold;
Your horn of plenty holds a treasure rare—
The things man's heart doth crave with ceaseless prayer.

III
Do you doubt my word?—Go take the L. & E.
Thru a field and forest, glide past hill and stream,
Thru Fayette, Clark and Powell, then you'll see
Wolfe, Breathitt, Perry, Letcher, like a dream,
Excelling far the tales you've heard or read
Of their timber, oil and gas and coal outspread,
Pumps and pipe-lines, tanks and tipples, wells and mills,
And the hurly-burly rush, with all its thrills,
Of the constant flow of fuel from each mine,
More worth to man than all his hoarded gold.
Hence my message—it is this to young and old—
"Go there, stay there, clear the way there,
Carry on, get busy, strive to win your rightful share
Of the gifts the God of Grace has stamped as thine!"

Notice to Prospective Light and Power Users

The Kentucky & West Virginia Power Co. will begin furnishing electric service in Whitesburg about November 1 or sooner, and in order to furnish safe and efficient service, the Company will require each customer to put his service wires in safe condition before current will be turned on.

1 The customer's wiring should be brought outside the building nearest the Utility's distributing lines at a point at least 16 feet and not more than 20 feet above the ground, except on buildings whose structure will not permit of suitable attachment at this height but should terminate at a point where it will not interfere with windows, awnings or other parts of the building, and so located that it will be readily accessible to service wires brought from the Utility's pole. In case the pole line from which service is to be given is not in position, inquiry should be made to the Utility for information as to its proposed location.

2 All connections between the service entrance and meter location should be in exposed Rigid Iron Conduit, such conduit to be well grounded. Wire in this conduit should be rubber covered not less than No. 8 B. & S. Gauge copper, and as much larger as may be necessary to supply the connected load without voltage loss as specified by the National Electric Code.

3 An approved weatherproof conduit fitting should be provided on the end of the iron conduit where the service connection is to be made.

4 Each wire of the Customer's wiring should extend at least 18 inches beyond the end of the conduit for the Utility to attach its wires thereto.

5 Service entrance should be so located that it will not be necessary for the Utility to install more than one set of wire attachments on Customer's premises to support the Utility's service wires.

6 Substantial supports for attaching the Utility's service wires to buildings, in which wood or lag screws at least 4 1/2 inches long may be used, should be provided on all tile, stucco, concrete, glassed metal lath and sheet iron buildings.

7 Individual services will not be run to buildings under the same ownership, double houses or apartment buildings.

8 Customer should run service wires from houses on opposite ends of lots to a point where the Utility can connect to same from its nearest distributing point. Such wiring shall be in plain view from the street or public thoroughfare for its entire length.

9 Where the Customer has both power and lighting installation for Alternating Current Service ordinarily but one service outlet will be required, providing the power is 220 volts and lighting 110-120 volts. Special conditions frequently arise to modify this and it is always advisable to consult the Utility before installing such outlets. In the Direct Current district the general requirement is that separate conduits and outlets should be provided for power and light. We recommend separate services for power and light on alternating current installations of 5 h. p. and above. (adv)

Menace to Society

Moved by the light penalties inflicted for homicide in the past few years by juries in the mountains, Attorney M. H. Holiday is led to remark in a recent issue of the Jackson Times:

"One of the menaces to society is the fact that lawyers of high standing will for filthy lucre come into court and make unreasonable pleas for men who have committed heinous crimes and use every effort known to the profession, and sometimes not stopping to inquire whether their efforts to acquit criminals and to prevent just verdicts from being rendered. Again, one of the sad things that sometimes happen, is the fact that jurors who are called upon to render the sacred duty of performing jury service will let the pleas of indiscreet and astute lawyers so work upon their sentiments that they will in a measure forget their full duty and will be induced to render verdicts that are in no way in keeping with the heinousness of the crime committed by the man, in many instances, whose case they are considering.

"It might be well for America in this particular to take a few lessons from the mother country, Old England, where a man who takes the life of a man without just cause, rarely ever is permitted ted to escape the gallows for a period longer than 6 weeks from the date of such killing; while in this country, it takes in most instances, from one to three years to get a man even in the penitentiary for wrongfully taking the life of one of our citizens."

Nervous Break-Down

MRS. ANNIE LANGE, of R. F. D. 1, Burlington, Tex., writes as follows regarding her experience with Cardui: "Some time ago I had a nervous break-down of some kind. I was very weak and so nervous. I had fainting spells and suffered a great deal, but more from the weak, trembly, no-account feeling than anything else. I knew I needed a tonic, and needed it badly. I began the use of Cardui to see if I couldn't get some strength, as I knew of other cases that had been helped by its use. I soon saw a great improvement, so I kept it up. I used seven bottles of Cardui, and can say the money was well spent, for I grew well and strong. Am now able to do all my housework and a great deal of work besides."

"If you are, weak, run-down, nervous and suffer from the ailments peculiar to women, it is very likely that Cardui will help you, in the way it helped Mrs. Lange and has helped thousands of others, during the past 40 years. Ask for, and insist on, Cardui."

When Washington Knocked Out Columbus

No! Not a prize fight, but a knock-out blow for the early development of Kentucky. Washington, D. C., vs. Columbus, Ky.

Here's the story in brief:

The first Congress was called upon to decide upon a location for the Capital of these United States.

Thomas Jefferson, then Secretary of State under President Washington, wanted it at Columbus, Ky.

If you would know why his plan failed—why Washington was finally selected as the Capital—

Read the Entire Interesting Story in the

Louisville Post

This is but one of the many interesting stories of little known facts about the 120 counties of Kentucky which will come from the pen of the Louisville Post's gifted special writer, Mr. Ralph Coghlan.

Some of the others are: The story of Fluorspar, one of the most valuable metals in industry. How Paducah got its High School gymnasium. When King George ate Kentucky ham. The county which does not contain one illiterate child. Mayfield, "the old-fashioned girl," how she surpassed the country club flapper in everything really worth while. How $300,000 was spent by one county to get out of the mud. When President Tyler was a coal miner in Kentucky.

This series will begin Monday, October 2, and continue daily thereafter. Don't miss the first one.

Telegraphic World News

Because of the difference in time most foreign news breaks best for the evening metropolitan papers. The latest, up-to-the-minute, dependable foreign news is a worth-while feature of the Louisville Post. Its home and market reports are not only accurate, but complete up to the closing of the New York market.

Political Articles of Special Interest

The famous Washington letters of David Lawrence appear exclusively in the Louisville Post. Sterling Americanism—America and Kentucky first, last and always—is the keynote of the virile Post editorials.
